05 Your reading

Your window at a glance

Of the 120 days checked for opening a business, a launch or a signing, 92 are usable and 49 are good or better, so you have plenty of choice. The first choice is Sunday, 4 April 2027, scoring 100. Pick the one that fits your schedule and confirm it with all parties early.

Sunday, 4 April 2027

Sunday, 4 April 2027 is your first choice: put your main effort here. In the Chinese almanac, this is a 开 Open day: doors open — the classic day for openings, launches, interviews and journeys. This day's animal is the natural partner of your day animal — people and plans tend to meet you halfway. Your Nobleman star falls on this day — mentors and people in a position to help are more inclined to. The best hours on this date are 07:00–08:59, 15:00–16:59 and 19:00–20:59. On the day, do one concrete first action before noon, such as sending the first invoice or confirming the first order, to anchor the opening.

Dates we ruled out

28 of the 120 days were ruled out. Some dates clash with the year animal of one of the people in this reading, a pattern practitioners call a clash with the year, and those days are never used for anything that matters: sign nothing, schedule no first meeting, and keep big decisions for a steadier date. Some dates clash with a person's Day pillar, the part of the chart that stands for the self and the closest bond, and those days tend to bring friction and second thoughts: keep talks light, avoid signing, and revisit any decision the following day. Destruction days in the almanac are left out for anything you want to last. Examples of days to rule out: 30 December 2026, 3 January 2027 and 11 January 2027. Book important meetings elsewhere, and keep these days for routine work.

09 Your chart at a glance

Read right to left: Hour, Day, Month, Year. The top character of each pillar is its Heavenly Stem, the bottom its Earthly Branch (an animal). The small characters are the hidden stems inside each branch, and the line under each stem is its Ten God: what that part of the chart means to you.

Ten Gods in your chart

The Ten Gods name each element by what it does for your Day Master. The bigger the share, the more that theme runs through your life.

	%
Indirect Resource	20%	Intuition, odd mentors, sideways help.
Seven Killings	19%	Pressure that forges you: courage, high stakes.
Indirect Wealth	16%	Deals, windfalls, appetite for opportunity.
Direct Resource	13%	Support, study, rest, being backed.
Direct Wealth	13%	Earned money, steady income, what you can count.
Friend	13%	Peers, independence, doing it yourself.
Eating God	8%	Talent that feeds you: making, teaching, enjoying.

Your Nobleman animals (people born in these years, and days of these animals, tend to help you): 丑 Ox · 未 Goat

Peach Blossom (charm and attraction): 酉 Rooster · its animal, for days and people that bring attention

How this was worked out

Every day in the window you choose is scored against your chart with the same method as Power Days: the day officer in the Chinese almanac, clashes and harmonies with your year and day animals, your Nobleman stars and the elements that help you. Any day that clashes with you (or, for a wedding, with either of you) is ruled out. You get the five best dates with their best hours, why each one works, and which days to avoid.
