八字 WOBAZI

SAMPLE · MADE FOR A SAMPLE CHART

Co-founder report

Who should own what, where you will disagree, and how to decide.

Prepared for Alex with Sam

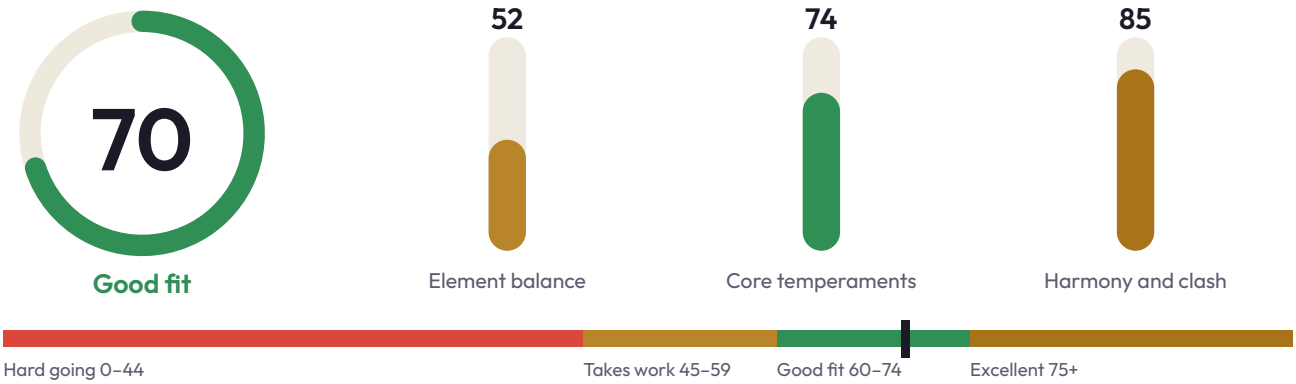

70	52	74	85
Good fit	Element balance	Core temperaments	Harmony and clash

Inside this report

01 Working together
02 Who owns what
03 Making decisions
04 Money, risk and deadlines
05 Conflict and repair
06 Blind spots
07 Timing for the next 12 months
08 Your chart: four pillars, Five Elements, Ten Gods and luck cycles

01 Compatibility score

One number for the pair, made of three parts. 60 and up is a good fit; under 45 means real work.

Harmony 58 · Clash 22 · How your Day Masters meet: 甲 → 壬 They fuel you

02 Your element mix, side by side

Left: you. Right: them. Where one is high and the other low, one of you brings what the other lacks.

Plenty of Metal between you; very little Wood.

03 Pillar by pillar: where your charts meet

Each square is one of your pillars (rows) against one of theirs (columns). Combine and Three Harmony pull you together; Clash, Punishment and Harm are where you rub. The Day–Day square is the closest bond.

You ↓ Them →

	Year 午	Month 戌	Day 申	Hour 酉
You · Year 申	·	·	同 Same	·
You · Month 申	·	·	同 Same	·
You · Day 子	冲 Clash	·	三合 Harmony	·
You · Hour 巳	·	·	合 Combine	三合 Harmony

合 Combine: Pull together
三合 Harmony: Work in the same direction
冲 Clash: Push against each other
刑 Punishment: Old sore spots get pressed
害 Harm: Quiet misunderstandings

04 Your reading

Working together

Support that arrives before it is requested. You and Sam find that big moves feel lighter together, because Sam steadies you and the timing between you rarely needs negotiating. As business partners, Sam's Day Master feeds yours, so Sam supports and steadies you. You bring momentum and ideas, while Sam provides the stability and follow-through that turns plans into results, making this a balanced and productive partnership.

Who owns what

As a Wood Day Master, you should own the growth side of the company: product direction, early customer conversations and partnerships that open new ground. Leave the steady operating and cash-control seat to someone who enjoys detail and repetition. As a Water Day Master, Sam should own the part of the company that reads the market and adapts the plan: product direction, partnerships, and the early calls on what to build next. Give Sam one operational area as an anchor so the flexibility has something solid to push against.

Making decisions

Shaped by Resource stars, you decide at work by gathering support, studying options, and resting before committing, so you rarely rush and often back choices with evidence. Shaped by Resource stars, Sam decides at work by gathering support, studying options, and resting before committing, so Sam rarely rushes and often backs choices with evidence. A simple rule for deciding together is to write down decisions above an agreed limit, so nothing is left to memory or assumption.

05 Points of tension

Not a verdict: these are the places the two charts push on each other, strongest first.

Sparks in the room · Strong

You · Day 子 / Them · Year 午

Try this: Name the decision out loud before either of you steamrolls the day.

Watch for: Heat jumps. One of you pushes; the other braces.

The easy lock · Mild

You · Day 子 / Them · Day 申

Try this: Use the easy pull for the hard task: start together, then split the finish.

Watch for: You agree so fast you skip the check. Agreement is not a plan.

The easy lock · Mild

You · Hour 巳 / Them · Day 申

Try this: Use the easy pull for the hard task: start together, then split the finish.

Watch for: You agree so fast you skip the check. Agreement is not a plan.

Who sets the pace · Mild

You · Day Wood / Them · Day Water

Try this: Say who is leading this one. One leads, one follows, then swap.

Watch for: Whoever is louder sets the tempo. The other waits, then withdraws.

The missing piece · Mild

Try this: Name the missing piece out loud and let one of you own it.

Watch for: Each of you fills the hole with your own habit. The gap stays.

06 How to work with each other

	Them	You
How to pitch to them	Offer options and context; let them see the whole picture first.	Show where the idea grows next; lead with vision and momentum.
What sets them off	pressure without options or time to think	feeling boxed in or having growth blocked
How they decide	decides slowly and needs context and trust first	decides slowly and needs context and trust first

07 Best days to work it out together

This month and next, scored for both charts with the same method as Power Days. Gold = best, green ring = good, struck through = avoid (it clashes with one of you).

November 2026

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
1	~~2~~	3	~~4~~	5	6	7
8	9	~~10~~	11	~~12~~	13	14
~~15~~	~~16~~	17	18	19	20	21
~~22~~	23	~~24~~	25	26	~~27~~	~~28~~
29	30

December 2026

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
		1	2	3	~~4~~	5
~~6~~	7	8	9	~~10~~	11	12
13	14	15	~~16~~	17	~~18~~	19
20	21	~~22~~	23	24	25	26
27	~~28~~	29	~~30~~	31

Best · Good · Avoid

The top days

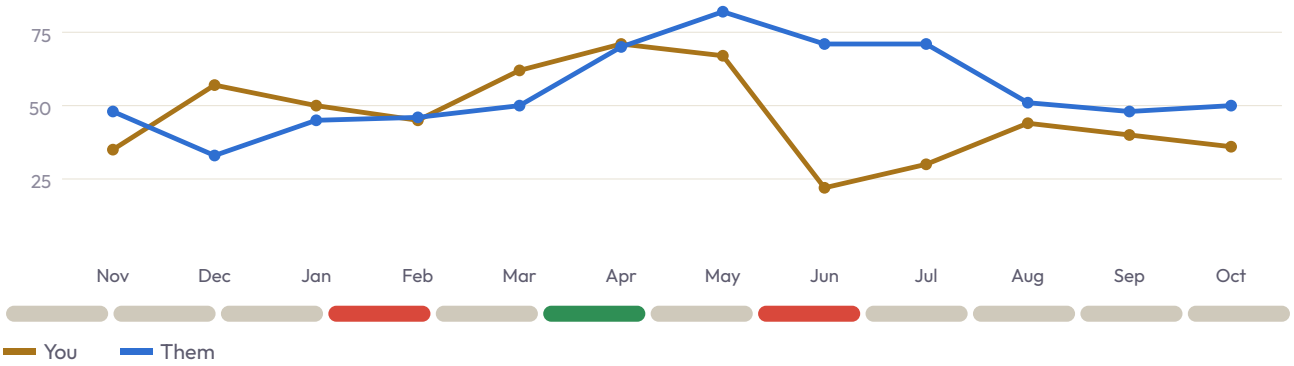

Date	Score	Why
Thursday, 26 November 2026	100 Best	甲辰 · ✓ Fits both of you · ✓ Hold day (You) · ✓ In harmony (You) · ✓ Wood boost (You)
Sunday, 29 November 2026	79 Best	丁未 · ✓ Complete day (You) · × Friction (You) · ✓ Helpful people (You) · × Fire drain (You)
Tuesday, 8 December 2026	92 Best	丙辰 · ✓ Fits both of you · ✓ Settle day (You) · ✓ In harmony (You) · × Fire drain (You)
Wednesday, 9 December 2026	73 Best	丁巳 · ✓ Hold day (You) · ✓ Pairs with you (You) · × Punishment (You) · × Fire drain (You)
Sunday, 20 December 2026	92 Best	戊辰 · ✓ Fits both of you · ✓ Settle day (You) · ✓ In harmony (You) · × Earth drain (You)
Saturday, 26 December 2026	75 Best	甲戌 · ✓ Open day (You) · ✓ Wood boost (You) · ✓ Open day (Them) · ✓ In harmony (Them)

Days to skip: Friday, 27 November 2026 · Saturday, 28 November 2026 · Friday, 4 December 2026 · Sunday, 6 December

2026 · Thursday, 10 December 2026 · Wednesday, 16 December 2026

08 The next 12 months for both of you

Each month scored for each chart (lines) and its tone for the pair (the strip: green easy, grey steady, red tense).

09 Just for fun

Picked from your two charts together: the element you share most sets the mood, the one you both lack sets the menu.

Where to meet

A proper business lunch, somewhere precise

What to eat

Fresh greens, herbs and something sour: salads, pickles, green tea

What to do

A museum, a workshop, or a well-planned trip

10 More of your reading

Money, risk and deadlines

You treat money as fuel for growth, so you invest in ideas and people before the numbers are certain. Set a fixed cash buffer and a hard deadline for every plan, or risk quietly outruns you. Sam treats money as a flow to redirect rather than a pile to guard, spotting openings early and moving fast. Small risks suit Sam, but deadlines slip when several options stay open, so agree one fixed date and hold Sam to it.

Conflict and repair

You and Sam have opposite instincts: you push for speed, Sam pulls back to check details, and a branch clash between your charts turns that into sudden friction. In meetings it shows as sharp interruptions or decisions made without the other. Agree a rule before it costs the business: no decision on the day of a disagreement, and a written note of who owns what. You and Sam agree so easily that real risks go unmentioned and hard calls get postponed until they cost money. You both prefer to keep the peace, so nobody flags the slipping deadline or the thin margin. Put one blunt review on the calendar each month where each of you must name a risk out loud.

Blind spots

Neither of you has much Wood, so growth, planning, learning and reaching out all get skipped when work gets busy. Bring in someone whose chart carries Wood, or set a fixed monthly review where plans and new contacts are the only agenda.

Timing for the next 12 months

The next twelve months for business partners: a mix of easy and tense months. Push in April 2027; hold back in February 2027 and June 2027. Put launches, pitches and contracts in April 2027, and use February 2027 and June 2027 to tighten costs, check stock and clear loose ends.

11 Your chart at a glance

Read right to left: Hour, Day, Month, Year. The top character of each pillar is its Heavenly Stem, the bottom its Earthly Branch (an animal). The small characters are the hidden stems inside each branch, and the line under each stem is its Ten God: what that part of the chart means to you.

Hour	Day	Month	Year
Direct Wealth	Day Master	Indirect Wealth	Indirect Resource
己	甲	戊	壬
Yin Earth	Yang Wood	Yang Earth	Yang Water
巳	子	申	申
Snake · Fire	Rat · Water	Monkey · Metal	Monkey · Metal
丙 庚 戊	癸	庚 壬 戊	庚 壬 戊

Your 10-year luck cycles

Each block is a 10-year luck pillar, scored against the chart it belongs to. The highlighted one is running now.

1995	2005	2015	2025	2035	2045	2055	2065	2075
丁 未	丙 午	乙 巳	甲 辰	癸 卯	壬 寅	辛 丑	庚 子	己 亥
Hurting Officer	Eating God	Rob Wealth	Friend	Direct Resource	Indirect Resource	Direct Officer	Seven Killings	Direct Wealth
30	22	67	71	62	45	50	57	35

Day Master: 甲 · Yang Wood

A gentler Day Master: it does best when it is fed and supported.

Elements that help you: Wood · Water Elements that weigh on you: Fire · Earth · Metal

Five Element balance

Wood +	0%
Fire −	8%
Earth −	30%
Metal −	26%
Water +	36%

Ten Gods in your chart

The Ten Gods name each element by what it does for your Day Master. The bigger the share, the more that theme runs through your life.

	%
Indirect Resource	20%	Intuition, odd mentors, sideways help.
Seven Killings	19%	Pressure that forges you: courage, high stakes.
Indirect Wealth	16%	Deals, windfalls, appetite for opportunity.
Direct Resource	13%	Support, study, rest, being backed.
Direct Wealth	13%	Earned money, steady income, what you can count.
Friend	13%	Peers, independence, doing it yourself.
Eating God	8%	Talent that feeds you: making, teaching, enjoying.

Helpful stars

Your Nobleman animals (people born in these years, and days of these animals, tend to help you): 丑 Ox · 未 Goat

Peach Blossom (charm and attraction): 酉 Rooster · its animal, for days and people that bring attention

12 Their chart at a glance

Read right to left: Hour, Day, Month, Year. The top character of each pillar is its Heavenly Stem, the bottom its Earthly Branch (an animal). The small characters are the hidden stems inside each branch, and the line under each stem is its Ten God: what that part of the chart means to you.

Hour	Day	Month	Year
Direct Officer	Day Master	Indirect Wealth	Indirect Resource
己	壬	丙	庚
Yin Earth	Yang Water	Yang Fire	Yang Metal
酉	申	戌	午
Rooster · Metal	Monkey · Metal	Dog · Earth	Horse · Fire
辛	庚 壬 戊	戊 辛 丁	丁 己

Their 10-year luck cycles

Each block is a 10-year luck pillar, scored against the chart it belongs to. The highlighted one is running now.

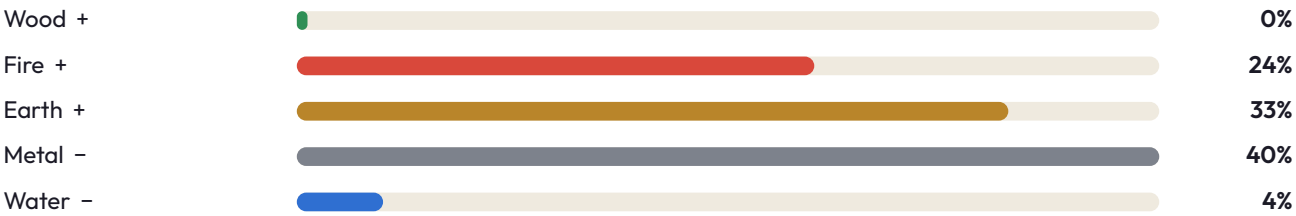

1992	2002	2012	2022	2032	2042	2052	2062	2072
丁 亥	戊 子	己 丑	庚 寅	辛 卯	壬 辰	癸 巳	甲 午	乙 未
Direct Wealth	Seven Killings	Direct Officer	Indirect Resource	Direct Resource	Friend	Rob Wealth	Eating God	Hurting Officer
48	51	63	46	50	52	64	71	71

Day Master: 壬 · Yang Water

A strong Day Master: it does best when it spends its energy.

Elements that help this chart: Wood · Fire · Earth Elements that weigh on this chart: Water · Metal

Five Element balance

Ten Gods in their chart

The Ten Gods name each element by what it does for your Day Master. The bigger the share, the more that theme runs through your life.

	%
Indirect Resource	20%	Intuition, odd mentors, sideways help.
Direct Officer	16%	Structure, title, rules you respect.
Direct Resource	16%	Support, study, rest, being backed.
Friend	16%	Peers, independence, doing it yourself.
Indirect Wealth	13%	Deals, windfalls, appetite for opportunity.
Direct Wealth	10%	Earned money, steady income, what you can count.
Seven Killings	9%	Pressure that forges you: courage, high stakes.

Helpful stars

Their Nobleman animals (people and days of these animals tend to help them): 巳 Snake · 卯 Rabbit

Peach Blossom (charm and attraction): 酉 Rooster · present in the chart

How this was worked out

Both charts are drawn from the birth details, then compared: how your Day Masters interact, how the elements complement each other, where your branches harmonise or clash, and which friction patterns are built in. Each of you also has a running 10-year luck cycle, and the next twelve months are scored for the two of you. The report puts all of this into plain, practical sections.