The verdict

This number scores 55 out of 100 against your chart, which puts it in the mixed band. In daily use, that means it has both helpful and unhelpful influences, so use it for everyday tasks but consider a stronger number for important matters. The closing digits of the number, which are the ones people choose and say aloud and therefore count more, are mostly a mix of helpful and unhelpful for your chart.

Digit by digit

The digits 3 and 8 carry Wood, the element of growth, plans, learning and reaching out. Wood is one of your helpful elements, so these digits help: expect clearer follow-through on plans and easier starts. The digits 0 and 5 carry Earth, which is stability, trust, routine and property. It is not one of your helpful elements, so this number adds weight rather than lift. You may feel stuck or over-cautious when you use it, so keep plans flexible and avoid piling on extra obligations on those days. The digits 1 and 6 carry Water: flow, ideas, communication, adaptability. Water is one of your helpful elements, so this number supports you, and you may find conversations go more smoothly, thinking loosens up and you adjust to changes with less effort. It suits a main everyday number. The neighbouring digits 1 then 2 sit in a controlling pattern: 1 holds down 2, which is good for you because 2 is a digit that helps you, so the restraint keeps its influence in check rather than letting it run too strong. The neighbouring digits 5 then 6 sit in a controlling pattern: 5 holds down 6, which is not good for you because 6 is a digit that helps you, so the restraint weakens support you could otherwise rely on.

05 Digit pairs, one by one

Every neighbouring pair of digits, read left to right. When the first feeds the second, the second gets stronger; when it controls it, the second is held down.

How this was worked out

Your Day Master and the balance of the Five Elements in your chart decide which elements help you and which weigh on you. Every digit belongs to one element (1 and 6 Water, 2 and 7 Fire, 3 and 8 Wood, 4 and 9 Metal, 5 and 0 Earth), so each digit is scored against your chart, with the closing digits counting more and neighbouring digits read as pairs. You get the score, the digit-by-digit reasons, practical advice, and the best alternative numbers for your chart, scored the same way.
